

2022 – July 21 TVAL Members Meeting

Lisa Dubois opened the meeting at 6:33 with a welcome and thank you to the members for helping TVAL move forward. She pointed out the new artwork from the July refresh. Workshops, shows and volunteering status were reviewed (see attached agenda and refer to website and Sign up Genius for details).

Jill Atchison reviewed the updated organizational chart for TVAL pointing out the pillars of the organization that are required for revenue. The chart with committee chairs' names and contact information will be on our website. Those interested in filling the open positions should contact Jill.

Angi Beauheim, Tech Talk, reminded members to check their websites for needed updates and refresh. Manage your links – make sure they work.

Angi introduced Dawn Kirk, Loveland Youth Garden Tour. The tour has been active for 26 years. They are looking to partner artists with garden space adding garden art. Dawn had cards available for artists interested in learning more about this partnership. Gabby Lopez is the contact for the artist. More information on the Loveland Your Gardeners website. The garden tour is looking for new support for committee members and looking to expand the type of art currently included in the tour. A percentage of the sales of art during the tour goes to the Loveland Youth Garden Tour. The final percentage is under discussion.

Jill A. gave an overview of Art in The Park. The event has been happening for 56 years – was held during the pandemic under the regulations/requirements. Longest running art and craft show in Colorado. It is the number 1 fund raiser for TVAL. The event runs August 13 and 14 and is all volunteer run. Exhibiting members are required to volunteer. Basic members – we need your help. The show's 175 booths have been sold. The TVAL website has all the information about shuttles and sign ups.

Lisa announced our next members meeting will be August 8th with Erik Rock from the library Maker's Lab as our guest speaker. Lisa closed the meeting at 7:33pm

Respectfully submitted,
